MRS. HARRIS ADMITS BEING "LOVE CHILD" OF "MISSISSIPPI LEES"

WIFE OF BANKER ADMITS SHE WAS DAUGHTER OF GAMBLER IN SHATTERED ROMANCE

New York, Feb. 29 (L.N.S.)—Testimony tending to establish her relationship to the "Lees of Mississippi"—founders of the historic Lee line of river steamboats—was introduced today at the marriage annulment trial of Mrs. Elaine Lee Harris, brought by her husband, Beverly D. Harris, former vice-president of the National City Bank.

Harris is contending that his wife is not of a good family and that she deceived him.

By deposition, James M. Lee, seventy-three years old, Tennessee farmer, said he was a nephew of James Lee, Sr., the founder of the "Lee line." There were seven sons in the elder Lee's family, the deponent said. One was Samuel C. Lee, whom he claims was the husband of Mrs. Harris' mother.

ADVERSE BEING LOVE-CHILD.

It is Mrs. Harris' contention that she is the daughter of Samuel C. Lee's wife, the deponent said she was born out of wedlock, and parents that still Rayner of Memphis, Tenn., was her father.

The fact that her mother had married a member of the Lee family was Mrs. Harris' only claim to relationship to them.

Harris, in his suit, charges that Mrs. Harris had told him that she was a cousin of James Lee, Jr., who inherited the "Lee line" from his father. He claimed that Samuel C. Lee, the husband of Mrs. Harris' mother, was not related to the Mississippi Lees, but was a poor farmer.

Mrs. Alice Pace, in a deposition taken in her home in Buncombe county, Miss., recalled the day her husband, the brother of Saluda Ann Lee, had returned from his father's funeral bringing a "son month's" old baby.

"Saluda Ann Lee, Mrs. Sam C. Lee, was her mother," the deponent read. "The baby was Eleanor Elaine Lee. My husband brought the baby to my home when Mrs. Lee died. I cared for her until she was ten or twelve years old."

Q—Who supported Eleanor Elaine Lee while in your hands? A—Mr. Ed. Rayner.

Under cross-examination by George Gordon Battle, Harris was questioned concerning a conversation with his attorney during which speculation turned on the possibility of Mrs. Harris' having been the daughter of this Zetta Lee, an octopus.

SORS HYSTERICAL.

Harris denied ever making any such statement, but admitted there had been some speculation in his mind concerning the possibility, "because we were in the dark as to who she was."

Then the trial was dramatically halted.

Mrs. Harris' confidently bobbing head had dropped to the back of the chair before her. She was sobbing hysterically. James A. Battle, her lawyer, stroked her shoulder and sought to lull her broken sobs.

Judge Watersworth dispatched a court attendant to order her to leave the court room until she had composed her emotion, but Mr. Battle pleaded the court that she would remain calm. In response to his whispered assurances, she gradually quieted. But the accused smile was wiped from her face.

HERE'S BOSTON'S FIRST 'LEAP YEAR' BABY

Charles town Girl First Sees Light of Day on February 29

Boston's first leap year baby, born today, was a girl named Mary.

The youngster who will have but one birthday in every four years was born to Mr. and Mrs. Albert Huro, No. 127 Division street, Chelsea, at 6:20 this morning.

It is a dark-haired little girl, weighing eleven pounds, said, according to Nurse Ethel McHarg, proclaimed to the world in general with lusty wailings that she does not like the idea of waiting four years for each birthday party.

The father is employed as a bookman on the Boston & Maine Railroad. There are two little girls in the family—one three years and the other a year and a half old.

To the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. George Washington.

SUSPECT SAYS WIFE WAS SHOT BY DUFFY

Chicago, Feb. 23.—With William Engelke, Julian Kaufman and Carl Hen all held on warrants charging murder or accessory to the fact, police today continued their attempts to solve the double slaying last week of John Duffy and Mayville Leah Eddy, known as Mrs. Duffy.

Engelke admitted, the police say, that he was present at the time Duffy shot the woman during a quarrel. Duffy forced Engelke to accompany him for more than a day after that, he said, but they parted company to make plans for leaving the city.

The father is employed as a bookman on the Boston & Maine Railroad. There are two little girls in the family—one three years and the other a year and a half old.

HERRICK TELLS OF MORTGAGE BY EMPLOYE

Record Shows Transfer to Former Willitt Company on Same Date Taken

An office employee of the American Felt Company, Prescott H. Wellman, took a second mortgage of $22,288.88 on the Fifth Building, one of many pieces of property owned by George F. Willitt, it was testified today in Norfolk Superior Court by Robert P. Herrick, H. Willitt's attorney.

Sherrill L. Whipple, counsel for Willitt, introduced a record showing that Wellman, on the same date as that of the second mortgage, assigned it to the American Felt and the Boston Building Company.

The second mortgage, according to Herrick, was understood to have been placed on the property for the purpose of obtaining money to pay the realty tax and to pay interest on the first mortgage of $500,000.

ALBERT HURO AND HIS NEW CHILD

HARRIS CALLED SCORE BRITISH WIFE 'FLOWER OF HIS LOVE'

Banker Praised Mate as Ideal of "Poet's Fancy" in a Birthday Missive

New York, Feb. 23.—Beverly D. Harris answered with embarrassment and much gentleness, when asked to identify the following letter introduced by counsel for his wife at the trial of the banker's marriage annulment suit.

The form "love child," the banker explained, was "not used in its most limited sense," but only to show how superlatively nature had endowed the wife he so adored at the time. The letter was dated Sunday morning, July 7, 1918. It ran:

"Precious:

"This is your birthday. Of all the handwork of God in all the world none is of more rare exquisite beauty than you.

"You are a love child and to you he has given every charm that artist's vision or poet's fancy could imagine of wonderful, perfect womanhood.

"You are the very radiant flower of love. The full-throated songs of love, your teeth a caress of pearls. Your eyes are like soft sables; your skin like the bloom of dawn; your teeth a caress of pearls. In face and form and grace of movement you are all that woman is for all that man worships.

"He has given you all things but happiness. You are not happy. Happiness comes from within. It is the peace of the soul. It is not the possession of admiration, or any gift of creature comfort, or clothes or jewels or proud position or anything, save only one.

"I cannot tell it to you. You must find it for yourself. It will not come to you until you have eyes and ears of the soul to see it and know when it comes, so you can grasp it and hold it close to your heart and live for it only. But it is not yet. If I do not know when it will come, I shall be in the picture if and when the time comes. Sometimes I am afraid to think of that. You have not yet found yourself, and when you do and how, is locked in the mysterious future.

"My darling, wish for you today, my birthday, is for your return to health and happiness—true happiness—which, when it comes to you, you may realize is not what your heart now desires.

"Your BEVERLY."

"DRY" INFORMER IS HELD AS "GRAFTER"

Newark, N. J., Feb. 23.—Stephen Spitz, of Perth Amboy, who, prohibition agents allege, gave tips to Federal officers of places illegally selling liquor, was warned yesterday of expected raids and collected "protection money" from them, was arrested by Prohibition Director Action Chamberlain on charges of extortion conspiracy to violate the liquor laws and assault and battery.

A Department of Justice man added a charge of impersonating a Federal officer.

Chamberlain said Spitz was arrested with $70 in marked money after four saloon keepers had testified in a trap laid by the Federal agents.

Gen. Brewster's Order Calling for Use of "U" Assailed by Best Authorities

Among the military men who, unlike Major General Andrew W. Brewster, commander of the First Corps Area, dropped the British "U" from words like favor, honor and vigor, are:

George Washington.

Noah Webster.

The American patriots who drafted and signed the Declaration of Independence.

General Brewster's form of spelling, which he has ordered used in all correspondence emanating from the Corps Area headquarters at the Army Base, was today stamped as unobtainably British by excellent authorities.

LIKED OLD FORMS

At the Army Base, it was officially given out that General Brewster requested "the old form of spelling words like honor, favor, etc.," because he was "brought up to use these forms and cherished them."

But the "U" form was dropped in a hot dispute in this country nearly 100 years ago.

"The U" form of spelling, which I understand General Brewster has requested to be used, is never used now in the United States by authors, editors or other authorities," said Charles Neve Greenough, dean of Harvard College and professor of English.

EXCLUSIVELY ENGLISH

"That spelling is only used here by authors whose books are to be published and sold in England. It is exclusively the English style."

Walter A. Watkins, generalist of the Sons of the American Revolution, said.

"The form used by General Brewster has not been in use in this country since early in the last century. It is British. Even in England it is not used widely until recent years."

The first two drafts of the Declaration of Independence, Thomas Jefferson wrote "honor," which is the last word in the famous document, but in the third draft and the fourth, the word was changed to "honor." The signers had made changes in the word "honor," which was changed to "honor."

The last sentence reads: "And for the support of this Declaration, we mutually pledge to each other our Lives, our Fortunes and our Sacred Honor."

$5,000 DAMAGE IN FIRE AT S. BOSTON SCHOOL

Fire today caused damage estimated at $5,000 in the Parkman Vocational School in Broadway, South Boston.

An early morning worker saw the flames and sounded the alarm. When the apparatus arrived the blaze had worked from the basement to the workroom where a large stock of lumber was stored.

It is thought an over-heated furnace pipe may have started the fire.

HOSPITAL FEES LESS EXPENSIVE THAN QUACK TREATMENT

NO SAYING EVEN FOR POOR

Massachusetts Charitable Fund Ear Infirmary Is Open to All

The staff of a series of articles which is a sequel to this newspaper's investigation of medical malpractice in Greater Boston.

It is not acquainted with regular physicians and with the means of obtaining expert medical advice, the article will show how to avoid quacks by passing Boston's health centers, which the country.

It is saying, "penny wise and pound foolish," may be applied to those who waste money on quacks, when hospitals offer doors to the sick and offer supervision of specialists at nominal sum, or absolutely free.

The institution is the Massachusetts Charitable Eye and Ear Infirmary No. 248 Charles street, Boston.

The institution, which has as its director, Dr. Frederick A. Washburn, is also director of the Massachusetts General Hospital, and the general director, Miss Sophia A. Dean, R. N., was incorporated in 1811. It is the second oldest hospital in New England, and the largest in the world for treating diseases of the eyes and ears.

FREE TO POOR
The private institution, and solely from voluntary contributions and the receipts of those who board, the infirmary does not accept of charity work, but any one who can afford to pay the hospital fee for the treatment of their eyes and ears, may have their eyes and ears treated at a nominal fee.

QUACKS CANNOT DO THIS FOR YOU

EYE MAGNET.
Dr. D. T. Vail removed a piece of steel imbedded in the eye of a patient by the recently installed electric magnet device at Massachusetts Charitable Eye and Ear Infirmary. Anesthetizing the doctor is Nurse Esther Huth. The device is the most powerful of its kind and can pick up, for example, a solid steel needle. It replaces the old hand magnet and is used when foreign substances are imbedded deeply in the eye.

nothing at all, we do not turn them over to the city or State, but treat them here in the very best manner we know how. We have never been in the first place the stigma of pauperism on the poor and when they are treated free, no one outside these four walls knows about it.

HAS 253 BEDS.
"We have every possible scientific instrument to aid us in our work, the most recent being the installation of the country's most powerful electro-magnet, a device for removing foreign matter, such as steel, from the eye."

Another innovation is X-raying of children's throats to determine whether the thyroid gland is enlarged. The enlarged glands are shrunken up and many lives are saved.

The infirmary has 211 beds for free or small-pay patients, and 42 beds on the private floor. The ward rates are $21 a week, unless other arrangements are made.

LAWRENCE WOMAN NEAR DEATH BY AUTO

Lawrence, Feb. 28.—Elizabeth Porter, forty-five, address unknown, is in a critical condition at the Lawrence General Hospital after being struck by a motor truck today while crossing Essex street. The woman was dragged several feet and sustained a fractured skull.

DEATH OF 2 SAVED AT SEA GARNER PLAN IN DISABLED OPEN BOAT

Insurgents, in a Solid Block, Swung Over to Longworth

Compromise Offer

Washington, Feb. 28.—House Republicans insurgents formally agreed today to support the Republican compromise for the Democratic income rates in the revenue bill.

Representative Nelson of Wisconsin, leader of the group, said practically all of the seventeen insurgents who voted for the Garner plan would support the substitute to be offered by Republican Leader Longworth.

While the House leaders were in consultation there were indications at the White House that President Coolidge might be preparing to set forth publicly his attitude toward the compromise.

Close to the President predicted that he might vote a compromise measure which departed materially from the schedule of the Mellon plan.

The compromise provides for a flat 22 per cent. reduction on the present tax rates, with the same brackets retained. It would make the maximum 47.5 per cent. on income over $200,000. Minimum rates would be 14 per cent. on income between $10,000 and $15,000.

The Garner rates were substituted for the Mellon schedule by a vote of 222 to 146. Democrats will vote as one unit again today for these rates. Leaders said, and 200 of the 204 Democratic members are expected to be present.

Acceptance of the compromise followed the plea of leaders of the insurgent group, who said it would raise more revenue than the Garner plan. It would also help the "soldier's" bonus, and would grant a further reduction all along the line.

MOTHER OF YD HERO PERKINS IS DEAD
Mrs. Abbie Perkins, mother of Michael J. Take Jad Salts to Wash Kidneys if Back Pains or Botherers You

Flush your kidneys by drinking a quart of water each day. Take salts occasionally, says a noted authority, who tells us that too much rich food forms acids which lodge in the kidneys in the blood, efforts to expel them from the blood, then you may suffer with a dull ache in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headache, urinate, your stomach aches, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges.

To help neutralize irritating acids, to help cleanse the kidneys and flush out the body's waste, get four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy here; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days, and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help and stimulate sluggish kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in the system so they no longer irritate, thus effecting relieving bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure and makes a delightful laxative. By all means have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year.

PRE-WAR RUM HAS VANISHED

Eight Thousand Cases Included in Lot of Crooks at Chicago

Chicago, Feb. 29.—Eight thousand cases of pre-war bonded whiskey valued at nearly $1,000,000 have vanished from the Federal Concentration Depot at the Sibley Warehouse and Storage Company here, according to a copyrighted news story in the Chicago Herald and Examiner, which adds the amount of missing liquor may run much higher.

Withdrawal of the whiskey from the government supervised warehouse, in which the accumulation of liquor was among the largest in the country, was accomplished by forged or raised permits for medicinal whiskey, the newspaper says. All withdrawal records of the company are said to have vanished. A sweeping investigation has been ordered by Tor A. Heyzen, prohibition commissioner, according to the newspaper, which states the inquiry is in charge of the special intelligence unit of the internal revenue department and secret service operatives. The forged and raised permits have been circulated for months, and some dating back to last November have been uncovered, the newspaper says.

The withdrawal records of the company were spirited away by two men, representing themselves to be prohibition agents, who called at the concentration depot and presented a letter purporting to come from the Internal Revenue Department directing that the records be turned over to them. According to prohibition officials, the letter was a counterfeit and the signatures forged.

CHICAGO EMPLOYERS SPURN U. S. MEDIATION

Chicago, Feb. 29.—Chicago dress manufacturers have declined the service of a Federal mediator in their differences with striking members of the International Ladies' Garment Workers' Union, contending that there is nothing to arbitrate.

BOYS AFTER BOXES ROBB STORE OF $12

Michael O'Brien, a salesman at No. 210 shoe store at No. 210 Massachusetts avenue, North Cambridge, was alone in the store today when two youths, each about fourteen years old, entered and asked to look at some rubber boots. One of the boys then asked for some empty boxes.

O'Brien obligingly went down stairs for the boxes. When he came back the boys were gone, and he took the contents of the cash register.

TRIPLE TRAGEDY VICTIMS JUST 'TIRED OF LIFE'

Police Drop Love Pact Theory in Deaths of Two Students and School Teacher

Pittsford, Pa., Feb. 28.—Authorities investigating the death of Thomas Shenton and James Warmoesel, students at the Wharton School of Finance at the University of Pennsylvania, whose bodies with bullet holes through the chest were found yesterday in the local Y. M. C. A., expressed the belief today that the young men had entered into a suicide pact and that Warmoesel shot his nerve at the last minute and was shot by Shenton, who then took his own life.

The police declared that the attempted suicide of Miss Edna High, a school teacher in the Pittsford public schools, had no connection with the case of the students, although she was acquainted with them both.

Charles Huff said today that he did not consider it necessary to hold an inquest into the death of Warmoesel and Shenton. "They were two boys afraid of life," he said.

BRITAIN PLANS BIG FLEET FOR "BLUE SEA"

Arrange Political Move in the Mediterranean as Madrid-Rome Entente Sequel

London, Feb. 29 (U.N.S.)—Admiral Byrd, with the sanction of the civilian branch of the government, have decided to concentrate a powerful British fleet in the Mediterranean as a strategic political move, according to the Daily News.

This decision was dictated by Premier Mussolini's announcement that the Italian navy will be made up of the strongest in Europe, and to the approaching crisis between Italy and Spain.

France is showing increasing nervousness over the maritime activities of Italy and the growing naval power of Rome.

Don't Cry Cow, You'll Enter a Mah Jong Set Some Day

Galveston, Tex., Feb. 28.—Three carloads of selected shoo-hoos, slaughtered at a Chicago packing house, were exported from Galveston as the steamship Patrick Henry for Japan, where they will be re-exported to China for the main feature of Mah Jong sets.

The popularity of the game in the United States and South America is said to have caused a large demand for the bones.

CARDINAL O'CONNELL SEES POPE; AMAZED BY ITALY'S PROGRESS

PLANS TO ORGANIZE U. S. PILGRIMAGE TO HOLY LAND

Milan, Feb. 29.—Cardinal O'Connell of Boston, returning from Palestine, was received by the Pope and Cardinal Gaspari, the Papal Secretary of State.

They discussed the Jerusalem situation. Cardinal O'Connell announced his intention of soon organizing an American pilgrimage to the Holy Land.

Rome, Feb. 29. (AP)—Italy has undergone a transformation since Premier Mussolini has been in power. It is all a vast wonder to me," Cardinal O'Connell declared to a correspondent of the Associated Press.

AMAZED BY CHANGES. "I have never seen such a change. There is order, industry and elevation everywhere. When I disembarked at Naples I was astonished at the efficiency with which every thing was done there.

"There was no commotion and no confusion; the passengers on our steamer were handled with the greatest ease; our passports and customs formalities were finished with out any of those delays which prevailed in Naples during the many other times I had been there."

Speaking of his trip to the Holy land, the cardinal said:

"One is glad to look westward where one sees what Christianity has wrought and the good Christianity has brought to mankind. There is darkness in the Near East, where the people do not enjoy the blessings which Christianity has brought to the people of the west."

TO REMAIN TEN DAYS.

The cardinal expects to remain ten days in Rome and will call for the United States on board the steamer Franconia. Today he said he had never felt better in his life.

Reverting to his observations at Naples, Cardinal O'Connell said:

"What I saw in the port of Naples was surprising, astounding. The streets of the city all showed a new life, previously better sanitary conditions prevail. The constant rumble and noise for which Naples was famous has disappeared. It was a transformed city. There was no available of cab drivers storming you as you came ashore."

"On the way from Rome to Naples I noticed that there was plenty of industrial activity. Throughout the trip it could be seen that the people were working. There were prominent signs of discipline and respect for law and order. I noticed it for the first time in Italy for more than 20 years."

Human Chain Saves Collie From Drowning

Northbridge, Feb. 29.—Three men, braving death in the icy waters of Blackstone River, formed a human chain from the railroad trestle here today and rescued a prize collie dog from drowning, a few minutes before a train thundered across the trestle.

Nathan Clifford, railroader, was attracted by the dog, which he supposed were human. Calling to Edward F. Plante and Wilfred Guilford, the three effected the rescue of the dog, owned by William Horstall.

The dog was on the trestle when the train came. The men saw it and called to it. The dog came to the trestle and the men saved it.

USE PRISONERS ON PRIVATE ESTATE

Men Under Sentence Doing Development Work Outside of Bridgewater State Farm

An investigation of the employment of prisoners at the Bridgewater State Farm in development work on the private estate of Harry Hussey which adjoins the institution here today was begun today by Sanford Dates, commissioner of correction.

Prisoners have been working several days removing stone and clearing woodland on the Hussey estate. Complaints of Bridgewater residents led to the action of the corrections commissioner.

In a statement to the American today, Mr. Bates said:

"It would appear that although this work might be construed as a technical breach of the statute, the work was done for the benefit of all concerned, including the State and the prisoners themselves, and the State Farm property."

The matter will be investigated, however, and the provisions of the law called to the attention of the officials of the State Farm, who have no disposition whatever except to maintain their institution in the interests of the public and in conformity with the statute."

Superintendent Henry L. Stan of the farm told an American reporter that a large quantity of valuable wood was being removed from the Hussey place for use in the construction of the bridge over the State property.

Superintendent Henry L. Stan of the farm told an American reporter that a large quantity of valuable wood was being removed from the Hussey place for use in the construction of the bridge over the State property.

GIRL PURSUED FAME AND DIED BY OWN HAND

the turned her hand to writing one-act plays, short stories and poetry, and while she showed a decided aptitude for composition her work fell just a little short of being acceptable to editors and publishers.

Her mother, Mrs. Samuel Martin, has a long, heavy envelope, and she knows its contents. It is the rejected manuscript of "Mistress of a Mistake" on which Valli had been pinning her hopes of fame.

One of the excerpts from this book "includes a paragraph on Kilpin's 'Vampire,' which reads:

"A fool there was and she made her prayers."

"Even as you and I—"

"To an actor, a bone and a hank of hair."

"She was told—she is an actor and does not care."

"But the fool she thought him to be, yond compare."

"Even as you and I—"

"Took up gay life."

When Valli was told the manuscript had been rejected, she lost interest.

Then she started to go to parties. Night after night she went out. When her mother asked her if she wasn't going "too fast" she would say:

"Oh, mother, what's the use? I can't succeed in my work. Maybe I can succeed in being the life of the party for my friends."

Power of Valli's imagination, which in 1918 she had had an affair of the heart. It lasted a year.

Then she found out the man was married and the acquaintance ended.

RENEWED ACQUAINTANCE. But a month ago she asked this man on the telephone and asked him if he would not take her to dinner.

Following that the old love affair was renewed. She was to go to the city to see her mother.

Disappointed over her failure to see her mother, Valli abandoned her trouble to this man. He was sympathetic and advised that the best way to get rid of the blues was to "step out."

So Valli "stepped out." Night after night she made the rounds of the cafes and cabarets. In the morning Valli continued to dance. She danced and danced as though through physical exhaustion she could forget her failures.

Of her last party little is known. She fled from the home of her friend and in her own apartment drank the contents of a bottle of stove polish.

TOWN UNPROTECTED AS FIREMEN STRIKE

Syracuse, N. Y., Feb. 29.—Last Syracuse was without fire protection for ten hours from 10 o'clock Wednesday morning until 8 o'clock Thursday morning while members of the volunteer department were out on strike.

Their action was prompted, firemen declare, by the fact that the village board refused to grant a request that a new alarm system be installed to take the place of a bell alarm that repeatedly has failed to function.

SUES SHIP FIRM AFTER SALARY ROW

A $25,000 suit against the Meteor Steamship Company of Boston, the aftermath of a fight aboard the company's coaler, Meteor, has been filed in United States Court by William McCaskie of Glasgow, former member of the crew. McCaskie claims he joined the ship under the shipping board's scale of wages. When they reached Providence, he says, he was refused the stipulated salary. As the Meteor drove off from the wharf, according to McCaskie, he attempted to jump to the gangplank. He was seized by the mate, he says, was "nearly choked to death" and otherwise injured.

Vet Now Ready to Take Job as Accountant

Anyone in need of a bookkeeper or accountant would do well to look into the qualifications of a rehabilitated war veteran of South Boston, who is now employed.

He is twenty-six years old and has had nine months' training at Fisher's Business College and two years at Boston University College of Business Administration, specializing in accountancy.

His veteran is considered a bookkeeper and accountant only. The government seeks competent training for him with a firm that can offer some fair assurance of permanent employment at the end of the present training on May 31.

If you have need of such a man at $100.00—the highest of the government and for the U. S. N. 71.

MAC FARLAND IS DOWN TO HER SISTER

Gertrude Lowe Still Loves the Youth Accused in Case
With Dr. Stevens

The story of a romance shattered was told today by Gertrude Lowe, a Dorchester girl, whose name is on the charge list at New City House.

As a result of the girl's story two men are under arrest. One is the doctor, Dr. Stevens of Woburn. The other is the sister of the doctor, Gertrude Lowe, 25, of Woburn.

Gertrude Lowe was formerly married as an attendant at the Massachusetts Hospital and it was there that she met Dr. Stevens. They were married in 1918 and had a son and a half sister.

She came to the hospital to be a nurse and became acquainted with Dr. Stevens. "I was only a short time until I knew I loved him," she said. "I was only a short time until I knew I loved him."

"I was only a short time until I knew I loved him," she said. "I was only a short time until I knew I loved him."

Great Career Ended When MacFarland Died

Arrangements for the funeral of Greenville S. MacFarland, editorial writer for the Boston American and general counsel for the Hearst interests in New England, will not be completed until the arrival of Mrs. MacFarland late this evening from North Carolina.

The death of this notable figure in the life of the city was deeply mourned, not only in the city, but throughout the State and beyond.

Mr. MacFarland, who passed away in his sleep, was found dead at his home, No. 18 Stuart street, Newton, by his daughter. He had been ill for some time, but believed he was growing better.

LACK OF 2 CENT'S JARS
COURSE OF LOVE

MRS. MARY E. TALBOT
Wife of Somerville merchant's son, who testified in court to being stranded in Maine soon after her marriage. Her husband says he didn't have the price of a stamp.

LACKED FUNDS FOR STAMP TO WRITE WIFE

Warren Talbot, son of a Somerville merchant, did not write to his wife after the couple separated for the good and simple reason that he did not possess the necessary funds to purchase a stamp.

The young man was testified just before he was found guilty by a jury of failing to provide for his wife, Mrs. Mary E. Talbot, also of Somerville, who is now residing with her child at the home of her parents.

Judge Hayden placed Talbot on probation and ordered him to pay his wife $10 weekly.

Twice the youthful couple have appeared before the courts to face the charges. Talbot admitted, when testifying, that he had only paid $5 a week to his wife and a girl that he made it plain to his wife that the amount was for the child's benefit.

MORE LIQUOR IS SEIZED IN RAID ON 'RUM VILLA'

The Levee, twenty-seven years old, No. 185 Essex street, Chelsea, and Harry Kane, thirty-five, No. 47, on an street, Boston, thought they did not attract in the same place.

Their laundries and the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court, who had been arrested for the same offense, were making liquor in the house on the Boston side of the street, known as "Rum Villa."

Only thirty-nine men, two others had been arrested at "Rum Villa," and the police found more than 200 gallons of liquor and 300 dollars of cash, had been seized.

The second raid netted 100 gallons of whiskey, 500 dollars of cash and 100 dollars of other property. The police arrested Levee and Kane.

THEE BORED BY CHARLESTOWN WALL

Tea Room Romance 'Joke'; Girl Flees

BRICK OVEN PATRONS ARE BORED BY WALL

Joy Street Bohemian Resort
Now Too Hot for Author
In Marriage Frank

The mysterious disappearance of Miss Elizabeth Brownell, twenty-three-year-old operator of "The Brick Oven," Bohemian tea room at No. 36 Joy street, within two hours after a young man had filed marriage intention papers for himself and her, was cleared up with a revelation which proved more sensational in Beacon Hill than the mystery had been.

The marriage intention papers were filed as a joke by a young man "friend" of Miss Brownell.

This is the explanation which the girl gave of the strange situation.

John P. Langdon, twenty-five years old, 11 West 11th street, Boston, was the young man who filed the intention papers. He was a friend of Miss Brownell's and was known to her as "John P."

Langdon was a student at the University of California, Berkeley, and was on his way home from a vacation in Europe.

He had been in Boston for a few days and had been visiting Miss Brownell at her tea room.

Langdon was a very handsome young man and was very popular with the girls.

FUND TO STOP RUM RUNNING

House Committee Favors $13.-
853,989 Outlay to Equip
Coast Guard Chasers

Washington, Feb. 29.—The sum of $13,853,989 has been voted by the House Appropriations Committee to equip the Coast Guard to stop rum running along the coasts, especially along the Atlantic coast, it was learned today.

It is estimated that 10,000 or more cases of liquor are landed along the Atlantic and Gulf coasts every month. The money appropriated will provide swift navy destroyers, big speed cruising motor boats and other swift craft to patrol the entire Atlantic and Gulf coasts.

Commander Row of the United States Coast Guard, reported House committee that the rum runners are using fast motor boats and are using the same routes as the coast guard.

He said that the coast guard has been ordered to stop rum running and to stop the sale of liquor.

HUB PREMIER OF 'WHITE WAY' TONIGHT

Great Cosmopolitan Film of Broadway Life Opens at Park Theatre

Tonight's the night! The Park Theatre is the place! Tonight, promptly at 8:15, Broadway, that kaleidoscope of jazz and jinks of girls and music; of wild drama realized and eager hopes shattered—Broadway, the greatest "Man Street" in the world, will be set down in Boston in all its glaring brilliancy.

On that great thoroughfare where glorifying the American girl is a great and growing business, where fortunes are dissipated in a single night, where careers are made and careers shattered in the twinkling of an eye, life moves at its swiftest—and he or she is lost who cannot keep up the pace.

GREAT WHITE WAY.

Throughout the world night is light except on Broadway, where there is no night. For Broadway is "The Great White Way" throbbing and pulsing in the night hours, glowing and shining in its electric brilliance after the sun sets.

Along this dazzling strand work and play the leaders in the sport world, the theatre, the art world and the newspaper world—where few could find number and in its complements by no other spot on the earth.

The super-plumber of the world is "The Great White Way" and Boston will view it tonight. In a very few minutes there is a picture of the greatest of the "King Pin," of whom there is no peer in that line.

There is a leading sportswoman; a leading jockey; a leading lady humorist; a leading dancer of world fame; a leading sportswoman; a leading actress; a leading "man of the town" and a leading director of girl and music shows.

WONDER PICTURE.

They all roam the Great White Way and tonight at the Park Theatre will come to you "The Great White Way" motion picture. "The Great White Way" the wonder picture of New York's "Main Street" and this is a picture of a city which has never been seen before. It is such a picture as no one has ever seen before. They are part of a picture that is not only a picture, but a picture of a picture. They are part of a picture that is not only a picture, but a picture of a picture.

These are three samples of the types of actors in "The Great White Way." The others are H. C. Wither, author of "Sun and Moon," from which the thrilling movie story is adapted; Anita Stewart, Oscar Brown, Guy Barnes, Tom Lewis, Harry Wilson, Olin Howland, and Davidson, Hal Forde and Brimley Forde.

FAMOUS CARTOONISTS.

But they are not all. Consider Tex Rickard, Ned Wapner, Irvin Cobb, Harry Herndon, creator of "Aha the Acorn," Damon Runyon, George Melham, creator of "Whispering Up Partners," Nell Brinkley, "The Cat Man," J. W. McHugh, Winny McGee, Billy Beak, creator of "Mugger," Hank, Johnny Gallagher, Johnny Montgomery, Billy Collins, Joseph Egan, Frank Wenderley, Joe Strom, Oliver Jerry Politano and Florence Ziegfeld, Jr.

They are all players in this stupendous production in which is told the gripping story of Joe Cain, a prize fighter, and Mabel Vandergeld, a musical comedy dancer—leaders in the night life of Broadway and Westchester. And the Ziegfeld Follies chorus is a background.

The film is filled with the thrilling moment—big moments when the audience is tense under the spell of the portrayal.

SPECTACULAR FIGHT.

There is a spectacular prize fight—topping anything of this nature that has been done here before on the screen. It is refereed by Johnny Gallagher, referee of the Dempsey-Tyron mill.

Again, there is a fight, featured by thrilling scenes, a few scenes so realistic that twenty actresses dropped unconscious to landings and were attended by ambulance physicians. It is a real fight with all the features.

A third amazing feature is a horse race at Belmont Park on St. Patrick's Day. Earl Benda is one of the principal characters in this big scene.

Third after thrill ripples through the audience during this picture movie that will open tonight at the Park Theatre. It is a picture that one cannot afford to miss seeing.

SEAPLERS HIRERS TO WED TOMORROW.

Methuen, Feb. 29.—The marriage of Mrs. Mary Allen Rowland, one of the heirs to the estate of millionaire Edward P. Brewster of this town, and Edward P. Bryant, an accountant, employed by a Lawrence automobile firm, will take place tomorrow in Philadelphia.

"CHICKIE"

Seething Life of a Lovely Boston Girl of This Strange Today

THE STORY OF "CHICKIE" THUS FAR

Chickie Byrne's first romance ended disastrously. At seventeen she had created the illusion that Arthur Sontag, a school chum, was going to propose to her, but when he announced he was going away she was broken-hearted. Then Chickie's chum, Mary Blake, was married. At eighteen Chickie secured a position in a broker's office and there met Janita, a girl wise in the ways of the world. Janita, Mary's brother, declares his love for Chickie, but she puts him off. Chickie meets a number of men and finally goes on a party with Jake Munson and a bunch of his friends, but her father is alarmed over what he terms his girl's waywardness.

THESE "wails" at the "Blossom" house, and, in response to them, Chickie's father received him kindly. They go for a ride and Chickie gets her first kiss. Surprised but happy, she thinks only of Barry, but next day meets Jake on the street and is persuaded to dine with him.

THERE is not much harm in two unless they lead to three. At three—stop!

Chickie laughed and, going over, put her arm around Martha's nape. "Now that's settled. I want to know something else. Did you ever hear of the 'Blessed'?"

Martha, sweeping the gold hair from Chickie's neck, smiled. "Is that what he called you, Chickie?"

"The blessed dancer!" leaped out from the gold hair of heaven. Her eyes were deeper than the depths.

Chickie tilted at even. She had three allies in her hand. And the stars in her hair were

"Don't you know that, Chickie? You must have studied it at school. Now wait. I used to know it all."

"Can you remember the rest?" To herself came the swift thought.

"Young Tommy just then dashed through the kitchen, grabbing a handful of sandwiches on the fly. He was ordered to halt."

"Would you mind, Tommy, dear—that old green look from my face?"

"(Who whizz, what Feller can't come near the kitchen without getting into do something. Give him—clink—clink.)"

Before Martha could reach him he was flying up the stairs, came back, grinning, giving her the book.

Borrows the Poem

Her rich voice brought forth glances and the passions of the beautiful lines. Chickie listened with a rapture in her heart.

"The book is the father of all volumes. 'Lend it to me!' 'It is a very great poem!' 'Perhaps not very great, but it doesn't seem to know that beauty is only beautiful when it is heard.' But he's often very ex-

Chickie overjoyed

Chickie, standing on her toes, pinches his mustache, whispering smartly. "Well, smartly!"

Yet she was so overjoyed and relieved to find no crude scene in the book, she was so

she became very confident and airy, saying, "Why, how do you do it?"

Then, seeing Barry Dunne, very young and very good-looking, she holiday look about him, she ended gaily. "I won't take me a minute to get ready—porcupine day, isn't it?"

"I thought we'd take a run down the country. We can have dinner later on when we get back. How's that with you?"

"That will be very charming with me. She winked playfully into Barry Dunne's eyes. "But what about you, Jonathan, old dear?"

She was immediately frightened

Remember how strong you used to be, how steady your nerves were, how your vitality responded to every call you made upon it? Then do not be discouraged even though you are now weak in body and your nerve power seems exhausted. You know that you can pull through to success and happiness just as soon as you can back your old time vigor and confidence in yourself.

If your body has failed you and you have sacrificed your vitality by overwork or nervous strain, stop worrying and build yourself up again. There is a safe home treatment waiting for you in twelve days you will feel returning strength.

Start to create red blood that will go pulsing through your veins with the throbbing life power. Nourish your nerves which are the driving force of body vitality. Give to your system the elements it must have in abundance to restore you—extracts of beef and malt for iron, hops and manganese to form red blood; glycerophosphates to aid nerve restoration.

Get from your druggists today a generous bottle of Wincarnis. This restorative that contains these blood, nerve and tissue building elements is the Wincarnis home treatment costs less than ten cents a day. Take it for two weeks and you will be done with worrying. You know what it will mean to you when you regain your old time strength.

The Beautiful, but Bluntly Honest Story of a Boston Girl

"The trouble with a kiss is this: It isn't a finality, but a prelude" at her filipant boldness and ran out of the room before Jonathan could answer. When she returned in a little while, very shyly and flushed in a soft green but

Chickie smiled sweetly: "No, Mary, old love, not Jake Munson."

When Mary heard the true name and heard a little else she shook her head and said: "What old I tell you—settled down like me in less than a year? I see it plain as day."

"Like the dozen you got I'll have a few years of freedom first."

Chickie meant it. She felt as though a wondrous gate were swinging wide inviting her into some gay garden. She meant to enter, to enter blithely along the happy path.

As soon as she was on the sidewalk she stopped short—a sudden clutch at her heart. A little conster was at her door.

He had come—without phoning. He was in the living room now. Jonathan was talking to him.

She was half afraid to go into the house.

Chickie opened the door softly, half expecting some loud, precipitate talk to rush against her ears.

Instead, Jonathan—quite a jovial, hospitable Jonathan—stood down the hall. He said, pleasantly, "I was just going for you."

Dunne is here. Kindly, like that, as though Mr. Dunne were his life-long friend when she heard that

Chickie overjoyed

Chickie, standing on her toes, pinches his mustache, whispering smartly. "Well, smartly!"

Yet she was so overjoyed and relieved to find no crude scene in the book, she was so

she became very confident and airy, saying, "Why, how do you do it?"

Then, seeing Barry Dunne, very young and very good-looking, she holiday look about him, she ended gaily. "I won't take me a minute to get ready—porcupine day, isn't it?"

"I thought we'd take a run down the country. We can have dinner later on when we get back. How's that with you?"

"That will be very charming with me. She winked playfully into Barry Dunne's eyes. "But what about you, Jonathan, old dear?"

She was immediately frightened

Remember how strong you used to be, how steady your nerves were, how your vitality responded to every call you made upon it? Then do not be discouraged even though you are now weak in body and your nerve power seems exhausted. You know that you can pull through to success and happiness just as soon as you can back your old time vigor and confidence in yourself.

If your body has failed you and you have sacrificed your vitality by overwork or nervous strain, stop worrying and build yourself up again. There is a safe home treatment waiting for you in twelve days you will feel returning strength.

Start to create red blood that will go pulsing through your veins with the throbbing life power. Nourish your nerves which are the driving force of body vitality. Give to your system the elements it must have in abundance to restore you—extracts of beef and malt for iron, hops and manganese to form red blood; glycerophosphates to aid nerve restoration.

Get from your druggists today a generous bottle of Wincarnis. This restorative that contains these blood, nerve and tissue building elements is the Wincarnis home treatment costs less than ten cents a day. Take it for two weeks and you will be done with worrying. You know what it will mean to you when you regain your old time strength.

HEROINES OF HISTORY

By Mark Sullivan
The Ballroom That Now Lies in a City

BUNKER HILL is the only example in America of a battle fought in the open of a city. Chatterbox has grown upon the slopes of the green hill where the first pitched battle between Americans and British took place, until there is nothing left but a small green from which the white granite shaft of Bunker Hill Monument rises to the sky. Chatterbox in Revolutionary days was a pleasant cluster of dwellings across the mouth of the Charles River from Boston. Now it is a teeming, congested district. To reach it the visitor must travel through Boston from the river by a bridge which is a railroad terminal on one side and docks and the United States Navy Yard on the other, and proceed to the monument by roughly paved streets.

Bunker Hill battle was fought on June 17, 1775. The British came from Boston to the town and its vicinity in the harbor drew up in front of where the Navy Yard now is and bombarded the town and hill. Some twelve or fifteen hundred British soldiers and British troops were on the hill and the British troops, on the other hand, were on the hill. The battle was bloody, with many killed on both sides. The British were victorious, but the Americans were not. The British were victorious, but the Americans were not. The British were victorious, but the Americans were not.

MEDBURY SAYS—

By John P. Medbury

FLORISTS all over the country are beginning to think that perhaps it did not pay to buy flowers for their customers any more.

THIS strange man doesn't keep company with a girl long enough to take her a bouquet.

AND even if he did take her a bouquet, it would be too busy to smile, then.

MOST men think that a dance is a place where you can get the seeds you want from her own flowers.

FLORISTS are a mark of affection and a lot of women think that when you give them a bouquet of flowers, you should make them think about you.

BUT a man who spends twelve dollars for a dozen orchids is doing enough for any girl.

Argues for Bonus
Editor Boston American:
Those who assert that the American soldier is ungrateful because of his acceptance of a bonus are mistaken concerning the interpretation of patriotism. It is not the soldier's duty to pay his soldiers a money reward. It is the duty of the government to pay its soldiers a money reward. It is the duty of the government to pay its soldiers a money reward.

The Soul and the Body Are Distinct

They Are as Separate From One Another as Paganini and His Violin

Copyright, 1924, Star Co.

The thoughtful reader whose letter follows objects to the suggestion that the soul and the body are distinct and separate:

Dear Sir—As a regular reader of your editorials, permit me to ask you for enlightenment regarding an editorial in which you deal with the old theories of religion that "soul" and "body" are two distinct qualities, existing separately in different directions, and finally that the body is "simply the tool with which the spirit works."

Now then, do you really believe what you said? Is it not contrary to modern science, which denies the existence of the "soul," as the old theologians try to explain it? Is not your editorial, in fact, an attack in some way on the theory of evolution generally, especially on the great Darwin's doctrine that the organic forms, as well as the power of spirit, are products of long evolution through many centuries?

Do you not contradict yourself? Some time ago you gave us a picture of a monkey and of the philosopher Spencer and told us of what wonderful development we had made. Kindly give us an editorial on the oft-discussed question of "body" and "soul," which might be of great interest to all your intelligent readers.

Yes, we do believe the soul and the body ARE separate. We reject utterly the materialistic suggestion that the soul is merely the expression of material qualities and that it is a product of mere unplanned evolution.

We do not deny the truth of evolution in so far as it affects purely MATERIAL things.

We do not know, and so we do not DENY. In the first place, we think Darwin is very far from having explained satisfactorily all of the marvelous creations adapted to the air, the earth, the sea and the darkness under the ground. Until some man shall explain the wonderful mysteries of embryology, of the prenatal development of the human being, there will be little prospect of explaining that more marvelous embryology, that wonderful development of animal life in this great earth previous to man's birth—previous to the appearance of humanity as the directing force here.

How can any man believe that the soul and the body are simply ONE, born together, and at death scattered to the elements, as they were gathered from the elements?

An inspiring sight in this world is that of an inspired musician playing upon a beautifully constructed violin.

The tones of the instrument are marvelous. Without that material instrument the genius residing in the brain of the man could not find expression. It could not do its work in the world.

Yet only an ignorant savage, looking at the violin and hearing the music come from it, could imagine that the music itself is created by the violin; that the GENIUS, or soul, is the violin.

The human body—the human brain and the various organs that serve its purpose and carry out its orders—is a very wonderful and beautiful machine. It enables man to do his work in ruling this planet harmoniously, just as the marvelous construction of the violin, adapted to its work through long ages of gradual development, enables the great musician's genius to find voice and expression and to do ITS work in elevating the minds of the hearers.

There is consolation for many of us—especially for those of us who are inferior, who succeed poorly and die failures—in this idea that the body is the instrument through which the soul works. If the instrument is imperfect the soul can only find imperfect expression. Take away Paganini's violin and give him a cheap, inferior fiddle—he will still play, but it will not be the same music. If you give him a violin out of tune and do not let him tune it he cannot play MUSIC at all. If you give him a banjo instead of a violin, what music can he give you?

Does not this comparison of the violin and the musician give at least a hope, an explanation of the development of life on earth? The man to whom you hand a fiddle with but one string cannot possibly produce the notes that are called for.

Perhaps the dog, whose fidelity we admire, is simply a imprisoned in an imperfect instrument able to give expression only to one note.

The brutish savage with dimly developed instincts of duty and honor may have as good a soul as that of Newton or Beethoven, bound up for the time being in a body that lets the wonderful music that he has reached the point that lets the soul express the harmony within it.

Is it not pleasant to suppose this soul to imagine that the great Creative Force has made one soul inferior to another for all time, establishing rank and classes that shall endure with horrible injustice through all eternity?

If the human race could understand that it has, within it, powers of magnificent development, limited only by the quality of the brain, through which the soul works, how deep an interest would men take in the development of their race, in the education of children, in kind treatment of mothers. In short, if it could be made clear to us that our one great task is the development of fine brains and bodies, in order to give expression to a nature and fully expressed soul, how much nobler would humanity be to us, how much finer the task we have before us than our present task of getting together money or cutting each other's throats?

Yes, good reader, the soul and the body are distinct. They are as distinct as the phonograph and the voice that comes from it. When you hear a phonograph talking you know two things: You know that INTELLIGENCE made the wonderful machine which reproduces the still more wonderful human voice.

You know that the VOICE is entirely separate from the machine, AND that the machine is necessary to reproduce the voice in that particular way.

The human body is exactly like a phonograph. The soul in it—that is to say, the voice in it that speaks on this earth and directs things in the direction of truth and of justice—is a voice from a very much higher source.

The body and the soul are united, as the voice and the phonograph are united, in the fact that both come from the same high source.

The human brain that made the phonograph also spoke into it the voice that you hear.

The very much higher and ETERNAL cosmic wisdom that made the human body, developing it, perhaps, through the ages by slow processes, as Darwin says, is also the power that breathed into the soul, separate and distinct, that expresses itself more or less perfectly, according as it may inhabit a body more or less perfect.

LISTEN, WORLD!

By ELSIE ROBINSON

Copyright, 1924, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

I COUNT that day blessed "whose low, descending sun" doesn't catch me listening while some Johnny tells me that "no one appreciates a good thing." They ought to make a record of that dirge and sell it in the cut-rate drug stores. It's by far the most popular quotation in the U. S. today. According to these Suffering Souls, when T. Gray wrote these lines about "Full many a gem of purest ray serene the dark unfathomed caves of ocean bear," he meant THEM. They're pearls, diamonds, pigeon-blood rubies, most honest, loyal, ingenious, unselfish natures that ever were entered in the tax roll. And all for naught! No one notices their industry, no one rewards their loyalty, no one believes in their honesty. Who gets all the soft snaps? Some hot air artist that never did a real day's work in his life. Yes, sire! Once upon a time Real Workers were appreciated. But nowadays—well, just look around and judge for yourself, what kind of a reception does a Real Man get? Some young whippersnapper—etc., etc.

In there any way of helping a needy family? I have three small children. The oldest, a boy, is six. And so it goes—fourteen months. My little girl is three years old. We are simply on our last nickel. My husband has been out of work for three months. If anyone else knows any way of getting a job, and I'm still scrambling. So when it comes to giving tips from the front-line trenches I am as well qualified as any worker. And I'm right here to say that this jowl about "no one appreciating a good thing" is ALL BUNK. The world DOES appreciate good things. It needs them, it is anxious to get them, it pays a good price when it does get them. The men who can do a good thing is sure of a fancy market. IF YOU'RE NOT FINDING A MARKET, THERE'S SOMETHING WRONG WITH YOUR DELIVERY.

Have you ever listened to one of these Doleful Daniels, Pal? It didn't take you long to discover why he wasn't appreciated, did it? In all probability the "good thing" he had to offer wasn't good at all. He just thought it was good. He had spread the varnish of his conceit over it until it looked glorious to him, but you could see the sloppy craftsmanship and impractical planning underneath. Or the Good Thing may be really good, but the worker's personality or viewpoint may render the work futile. I'm thinking of a woman writer who is talented and industrious. But she is so temperamental and so supercilious that she's about as comfortable to have around as a peevish porcupine. Then there's Dick. Dick comes to work in the morning with a chip on his shoulder, and by evening it's a whole hunk of cord wood. He's clever and a hustler, but no one wants him at any price.

There's your answer to the plaint that the "hot air artists get the jobs." They do. They get them because they have learned the knack of working pleasantly with other folks in a crowded, hurried world. Their actual craftsmanship is only a part of the deal in any game. Have YOU a good thing that is unappreciated, Pal? Look it over. Are you sure that you yourself would appreciate it if it were offered to you in its present form?

Needs a Muff

Editor: Helping Hand:
Will you please send me the address of some working mother who has a family of little ones that she finds hard to support. I have a boy in short clothes and two little girls, two and four, so if you have a family on your list like that, I would be glad to send them a few articles of clothing that I have. I have outgrown them. I would like to ask the readers if someone has a muff that I could use.

Crude Time Measurements

It is true that one could, if he chose, make any meridian whatever prime for himself, but if he did, it would be of no use to him unless he referred it to Greenwich as a base, or to some other accepted meridian, like that of Washington, for which regular ephemerides, i. e., astronomical tables, are annually prepared. Our standard time, first used in 1884, is based on the meridian of the seventy-fifth meridian west of Greenwich, which corresponds to five hours' difference of time, being the standard for Eastern time. The standard meridian of Central time, etc. Our time signals are transmitted from the Naval Observatory, located at Washington, but they give the time of noon on the seventy-fifth meridian.

DR. FRANK CRANE ON HONESTY AND THE COMMON PEOPLE

By DR. FRANK CRANE

COMMON Honesty is good enough. In fact, a man who is commonly honest is rather more to be trusted than the one who is uncommonly honest, for the latter is quite likely to be one who trails off into some sort of fanaticism.

It is an evidence of the incurable goodness and decency of the human race that we use the term Common Honesty.

For all men instinctively want to be fair. The average man shrinks from cheating, as from a big taste or a foul odor. That is the reason why crime is so common and confined to a small class of people only.

Criminals are few, not because the police are so active, but simply because crime is a disease and a perversion, and the great majority of the human race are normal and do not like it.

After all, the general trend of human progress is not determined by logic, nor law; it is determined by the abiding human instinct and the working out of evolution.

For evolution is not merely a matter confined to the growth of plants and animals, to the creation of worlds and of species; it applies also to souls. It applies to public opinion, custom and all matters that have to do with souls in their social organization.

The vast and intricate fabric of business in the modern world is woven of Common Honesty. Without that the fabric would speedily tear and come to pieces.

The family, the most ancient of human institutions, as it is the most enduring, rests more upon the instinct of Common Honesty in the dealings of men and women with each other than it does upon any statutes of law or commandments of religion.

The surest basis of any enduring fame is the public's belief in one's honesty.

That writer or public speaker who shall attain to the greatest and most solid influence is the one who has succeeded in making people believe that he actually means what he says, that he is sincere.

Common Honesty is the firm rock upon which the house of achievement is built.

Common Honesty is the pure water of which a man must drink every day to sustain healthy life.

Common Honesty is the daily bread of which a man must eat.

Sometimes we speak contemptuously of a person, saying "he is an honest soul." By that we usually imply that he is a clever.

But no greater compliment can be paid any human being than to say he possesses Common Honesty.

Of all kinds of human perversities the most impossible is the liar.

And of all the noblemen of earth none has a better title to nobility than the man who always keeps his word.

And it is not unreasonable to suppose that when the great Judge finally scrutinizes every human soul to give him his reward, and finds in that soul as He will find in the souls of most of us, more than one variety of weakness or wrong, he will incline to mercy if He can find any considerable strain of Common Honesty.

GARRETT P. SERVISS ON TIME MEASUREMENTS

By Garrett P. Serviss

Famous Astronomer and Writer on Scientific Topics of Popular Interest

"I should appreciate information as to when time was first used. All countries have their own kind of time. If not, what was the difference? In our time taken from Washington to Greenwich? A friend says that since 1875 our standard time was taken from Greenwich. Is that so? He says also that it is not customary to use Greenwich as a starting point, but that any meridian could be taken to start and that all variations using the ocean as a highway do not use Greenwich line."

MAN must have had a conception of time as long as he has had the faculty of memory. "Last night," "yesterday" are expressions testifying to a consciousness of the passage of time. Like hunger, time proves its existence by its effects, though in itself it cannot be seen or measured.

To measure time we must have some regularly recurring phenomenon, like the tick of a clock.

The natural and only accurate measure of time is based upon the earth's daily rotation on its axis. The hours by the "apparent movement" of the sun or the stars. That is furnished to us by nature, but the subdivisions, such as minutes, are artificial, though they ought to be no variation from this, for it is foolish to let national prejudices play any part in such a matter. You will find many details of great interest in a recent book, "The Measure of Time," by Professor W. J. M. Williams.

It is true that one could, if he chose, make any meridian whatever prime for himself, but if he did, it would be of no use to him unless he referred it to Greenwich as a base, or to some other accepted meridian, like that of Washington, for which regular ephemerides, i. e., astronomical tables, are annually prepared.
